

Dear Prospective AmeriCorps Member,

Program Staff and AmeriCorps Members on an introductory backpacking trip in Juneau

Thank you for considering a position as a Resilient Alaska Youth AmeriCorps member. This is an opportunity to impact youth in your community, create safe, positive activities, and encourage healthy choices.

We would like to introduce you to our program staff team, Eric and Liza, who work out of RurAL CAP's central office in Anchorage. We are both former AmeriCorps Members and love supporting people and creating opportunities for impact and change. If you want to call and talk to us about the program, please do! Eric can be reached at 865.7358 and Liza at 865.7396.

How Does the Resilient Alaska Youth AmeriCorps Program Work?

The Resilient Alaska Youth AmeriCorps Program is part of RurAL CAP (the RurAL Alaska Community Action Program) located in Anchorage. RurAL CAP forms partnerships with rural schools, tribal governments, and/or non-profits (called partner organizations). These organizations apply to participate in the program and recruit a local person to be an AmeriCorps member (that's you!).

AmeriCorps members attend a training in Anchorage to learn skills for working with youth, including Project Venture, an experiential learning curriculum with an indigenous lens. At training, you meet the other AmeriCorps members in the program who will be serving youth across Alaska, as well as RurAL CAP staff, all of whom will be a support network throughout your year.

When you return to your community, you will work with your local site supervisor to put on regular activities for youth aged 10-18. These include cultural activities such as beading, sewing, and subsistence, teaching substance mis-use prevention, and helping youth explore nature through multi-day outdoor trips. You will stay in contact with RurAL CAP and other AmeriCorps members through weekly teleconferences, one-on-one check-ins with the AmeriCorps Program Coordinator, and on-going training. You will track and report on your activities with the youth on a regular basis and participate in National Days of Service. The goal of this program is to help young people make safe, healthy choices, have fun, and build skills to meet the challenges of life.

Studies have shown that having one consistent adult mentor outside of the home can significantly improve a young person's life. You can be that positive influence in the lives of youth in your community.

Program Fast Facts

What is AmeriCorps? What does it mean to be a “Member”?

AmeriCorps is a national community service program, providing opportunities for intensive service to meet community needs. People who participate are called “AmeriCorps Members” and they work on a wide range of projects and issues across the nation, from building trails to teaching in schools to responding to disaster. In the Resilient Alaska Youth Program, we focus on youth and youth development. Members commit to a length of time at a non-profit called the Service Term. Throughout this term, members receive stipends and other benefits to support them during service. AmeriCorps is not a job - rather it is an opportunity to serve and give back to the community, while learning new skills for personal and professional development. More information about AmeriCorps can be found here:
